

Where people move between the role they see and the role they want

Cells are respondents; shading is the share of each row. Outlined cells gave the same answer twice

480 respondents leave Master and 200 arrive at it (Bowker chi-squared = 184.5, $p < .001$). Source: 08_mastery_paradox.R